Dear Steve:

I'm enclosing a photocopy of research I did in 1973-74 on the RVNAF reserve officer schools at Thu Duc and Nam Dinh (one class only) while working in the political section of the US Embassy in Saigon. Unlike similar research by colleagues and me at the time, I'm not aware that this paper was ever sent back to Washington. Thus, it is "unpublished."

The main purpose of such papers, one or more of which you already have, was to provide background information to analyze the national political role of RVNAF, whose officers dominated the political structure of the country. Relationships among officers were critical to understanding what was happening. The original plan was to do an assessment of RVNAF politics for each of the four military regions. However, my recollection is that only one was completed. (I wrote it, and it was, if I remember correctly, for Military Region 1. I don't have a copy because it was classified.)

You already have a copy of the command histories airgram. I'm not sure which of the other unclassified background papers you or Texas Tech may already have, but here is a summary of what I have in my loose-leaf notebook from three decades ago:

1. "The National Military Academy and Its Prominent Graduates." Saigon Airgram A-95, May 13, 1974. Author: James Nach. A-95 provides information on the history of the Academy and the dominant role of members of the first eleven classes in RVNAF. It lists prominent graduates from these classes and gives data on the positions of each. This airgram is similar in format to the paper on the reserve officer schools I've enclosed.
2. "Graduates of the National Defense College." A-170 dated August 22, 1973. Lists graduates of South Vietnam's National Defense College in Saigon. Author: James Nach.
3. "Vietnamese Officer Graduates of the US Army C&GS College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas." A-184, August 27, 1974. Author: Mike Davis, a DOD civilian employee assigned to the Embassy. Covers RVNAF officers who attended Ft. Leavenworth regular and associate courses 1955-1974.
4. "Vietnamese Naval Officers who have attended the French Naval Academy, Brest, France." Enclosure to Saigon A-251, October 1973. Author: unknown.
5. Lists of prominent graduates of military schools that operated in the 1946-1948 period at Yen Bay, Dalat, and Vung Tau. Author: Calvin E. Mehlert. These lists were part of a larger study (classified) on RVNAF politics done by Mr. Mehlert about 1971. Cal Mehlert now resides in San Jose, CA.
6. "Military Regions and Tactical Zones." A-32 of February 12, 1974. Traces development from 1952 until 1970. Author: James Nach.
7. "Provinces and Municipalities in the Republic of Viet Nam." A-36 of February 15, 2006. Traces development of jurisdictions from 1955 to 1974. Author: James Nach.

I hope everything goes well at the Texas Tech conference on March 17-18. Sincerely,

James Nach

Mobilization Order & Reserve Officer Schools

The Thu Duc and Nam Dinh schools for reserve officers were set up in late 1951 as part of a French plan to increase the size of the Vietnamese National Army (Quan Doi Quoc Gia) which officially came into being on May 11, 1950. On July 27, 1951, the then State of Viet Nam issued an order (Arrête No. 372/Cab/DN) providing for the "call to the colors" of young men to be given reserve officer training.

The two schools opened on the same date—October 1, 1951—at Thu Duc, near Saigon, and at Nam Dinh (in the North). They were called in French "les écoles des Cadres de Réserve de Thu Duc et Nam Dinh". In Vietnamese, they were known as Truong Si Quan Tru Bi (Schools for reserve officers).

 During the period from 1951 to 1965, 20,927 cadets were graduated and commissioned as 2nd lieutenants. By September 1973, the total number of graduates had reached 80,115.

Thu Duc Class 1: October 1, 1951-June 1, 1952

Graduates: (see note)

(Note on graduates: 278 cadets with graduating scores of 12 points (of 20) or better were commissioned as 2nd lieutenants. Of the 278, 28 were commissioned in the artillery branch (indicated by the letter "A" after their class rank), 14 were commissioned in the engineer branch ("E"), 16 were commissioned in the communications branch ("C"), and the remaining 220 were commissioned as infantry officers. Twenty-four cadets scoring 10 points or better were commissioned as aspirant officers. Nine other cadets who scored less than 10 points were made sergeants. The total number of graduates from the first class at Thu Duc as listed in the State of Viet Nam decree (238-QP/ND) is considerably less than the 475 listed in the records available at the school. However, the school records do not list the names of the graduates.)
